

Public Task Statement - Birmingham Museums Trust

This statement sets out the functions carried out by Birmingham Museums Trust ('BMT') that are within BMT's public task under the Re-use of Public Sector Information Regulations 2015 (the '2015 Regulations').

Public sector information \(PSI\) is information produced by central and local government or any other public body.

Birmingham Museums Trust is a registered charity (charity number 1147014) incorporated under the Companies Acts with registered number 7737797 and having its registered office at Birmingham Museum & Art Gallery, Chamberlain Square, Birmingham B3 3DH ("BMT"). BMT is responsible for governing and managing the museum sites and collections owned by Birmingham City Council, including Birmingham Museum and Art Gallery, Thinktank (Birmingham's Science Museum), Aston Hall, Blakesley Hall, Museum of the Jewellery Quarter, Sarehole Mill, Soho House, Weoley Castle and the Museum Collection Centre.

BMT is subject to the requirements laid down in the Companies Act 2006, the Charity Commission, the Accreditation Standard set out by Arts Council England, the funding agreements with Arts Council England and Birmingham City Council (BCC), collections and services agreements with BCC, and relevant legislation regarding museums in the UK.

See the 'Our Organisation' section on BMT's website for further information on our trustees, directors, our business plan, annual reports and policies.

Birmingham Museums Trust's public task is:

To advance education by the operation, maintenance, development and promotion of museums, galleries and libraries in Birmingham, together with associated facilities and related programmes of outreach and research, fostering knowledge, understanding, appreciation and enjoyment of the arts, history, science and technology by residents and visitors to the city of Birmingham, and to:

- Showcase our outstanding collection and venues and to inspire learning, creativity and enjoyment for citizens of Birmingham and visitors to the region.
- Reflect Birmingham to the world, and the world to Birmingham, contributing to place-making and local identity
- Care for and develop the collection, balancing the demands of public access in the present with the need to preserve the collection for future generations
- Document and research the collection, to support the creation of engaging and stimulating content
- Embed community engagement and participatory practice
- Deliver learning, inspiration and enjoyment through varied public programming, including displays, exhibitions, workshops, courses, publications and digital media
- Attract growing and increasingly diverse audiences of residents and visitors to the city, enhancing its reputation as a cultural destination
- Play a leadership role among the city's and region's cultural organisations, maximising the potential of a great multi-disciplinary collection
- Work with international partners to position the city's cultural profile on a global scale
- Maintain and present buildings to provide first-class visitor experiences

Work BMT carries out under contract (e.g. for research purposes) through organisations paying for the hire of BMT's accumulated staff expertise and information is outside our public task. Third party products derived from public task activities for re-sale in the commercial market are outside our public task. More information about the types of work available for re-use under the Public Sector Information Directive can be found on the next page of this document.

If you have any queries on this public task statement under the 2015 Regulations, you can submit them by email to: BMAG.Enquiries@birminghammuseums.org Click here for a link to our Complaints Policy and Feedback form.
